Maya Civilization Thrived in Fifth Century

Carnegie Institute Scientist Finishes Research

Women Hurling to Death to Please Rain Gods

(BY CARL AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
MEXICO, April 2.—(Associated Press.)—The Carnegie Institute scientist, Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, has brought to light evidence of a civilization dating back to the middle of the fifth century, A. D., which Dr. Morley says was the most advanced of any in the western hemisphere prior to the discovery of America by Columbus.

The research was inaugurated a decade ago by the Carnegie Institute, but was interrupted by the war. The project again was taken up last month.

The ruins of Chi Chentia are the largest of the Maya, which were founded about the fifth century by the colonists from the empire cities of Guatemala. Dr. Morley said. During this period it was occupied for about two centuries and abandoned for unknown reasons. The ruins of the seventh century the inhabitants moved toward the coast, where they stayed three centuries, returning to Chi Chentia and re-establishing themselves there about 985 A. D.

It was then one of a league of three cities, the others being Uxmal and Mayapan, which ruled Yucatan from the beginning of the eleventh to the thirteenth century. It was a period of prosperity, with a renaissance of art, architecture and sculpture.

New types of buildings were then erected, the temples showing columns cut with feathered serpents, dedicated to their patron deity, called Kukulkan, or feathered serpent. The great ball court, as large as a modern football field, was built and enclosed by walls thirty feet high and twenty-five feet thick. In this enclosure games were played not unlike modern basketball, the object being to drive a ball through rings fastened in the side walls.

A new religious cult developed, under which most of the beautiful young women were hurled to death in a great natural well 10 feet in diameter and seventy feet deep, as sacrifices to the offended rain deities during droughts. The fame of this sacred well spread far and wide, so that pilgrims came from a great distance to make precious offerings of carved jade, copper, bells, pottery and incense, which were deposited in this well as sacrifices to the rain gods.

Because of the extraordinary character of her religious rites and ceremonies, Chi Chentia became the mecca of the whole Maya world. It is difficult to make an estimate of the population of Chi Chentia during the period of her greatest glory, but personally Dr. Morley thinks the whole Maya nation could not have numbered less than a quarter of a million, and possibly half a million.

Dr. Morley is leaving for Mexico, where he will stop for two weeks, traveling thence overland to Guatemala, where he will excavate two temples at the ruins of Oquirigua. Upon the completion of this work he intends to return to Washington.

SCIENTIST DISCOVERS HOW COAL IS FORMED

ENGLISHMAN EXPLAINS ACTION OF HOT LAVA ON VEGETATION

(BY CARL AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, April 2.—Prof. Barton Leitch, president of the Radium Institute at Dover, asserts he has discovered the origin of coal.

He had engaged in research work with lava from Mt. Vesuvius, which is being used as a fertilizer, and says it is the discovery that the layers of "bit" the mysterious substance found on the top and bottom of all coal seams—are identical in analysis with lava.

The Hind contains lime, iron, magnesium, potash and other elements required by plant life, and when made radioactive with solutions of radio phosphorus of potash it absorbs nitrogen from the air and forms a perfect fertilizer.

The origin of coal is thus explained by Prof. Leitch: It is a cellulose of trees and vegetable matter, carbonized by hot lava and sunk into the depths of the earth by disturbances of the earth's crust at a remote period.

He asserts that conversion of the "bit" now a waste product, into fertilizer will enrich the mining and agricultural industries.

EPISCOPALIAN PREDICTS CONTACT WITH SPIRITS

SPOKANE BISHOP SAYS MENTAL HEALING ADVANCES CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
SPOKANE (Wash.), April 2.—Prediction that communication with the spirits of the dead "will eventually be as possible as it is now to communicate by wireless" was made by Rt. Rev. Herman Page, bishop of the Spokane diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, at a meeting of the Spokane Ministerial Association here today.

"The world today is drifting toward a spiritualistic movement, which though still in its infancy, may develop to great heights," he declared, adding that he had "no antipathy toward spiritualism."

The Christian Science Church, the bishop said, will progress as long as the other churches do not take up the healing movement.

"Christian Science is the religion in which the sick turn," he continued, "since other churches have not yet opened up mental healing in any way, people naturally turn toward the Scientists. Until the other churches make a constructive progress in that line, the Scientists will progress more rapidly in the art."

RENO-COAST AIR MAIL SHUT OFF BY STORMS

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
RENO, April 2.—Air mail service to and from San Francisco was shut off by the storm in the Sierra Nevada Mountains today, the first interruption to the Reno 100-per cent record in three weeks. Pilot Winslow, on this third attempt to get over the Sierras to San Francisco Saturday, was swept back by a drive so powerful, he said, that it drove him back although his engine was running at full power.

35,000 Circulation

LOTS or newspapers would be glad to circulate—at 5c a copy—to that many homes. One of our Los Angeles papers, that's true, but in other cities less prosperous.

The ROYAL Electric Cleaner circulates in 35,000 homes right here in Sunny California, at 50c.

The reason? Thirty-five thousand women have tried the ROYAL once and won't have any other cleaner, now. It "cleans by Air Alone," and air is harmless. It's built for a lifetime of service; it's economical to operate; it's the most efficient cleaner you can buy, and it's easy to carry about the house as a broom.

Just let the ROYAL clean your home. You prove these facts by home demonstration.

SIMS TALKS ON DEFENSE OF COASTS

Emphasizes Need for More Submarines and Airplanes in Speech at Pasadena

(By the Staff of the Times) PASADENA, April 2.—Emphasizing the need for more submarines and airplanes for the defense of the California coast, Admiral William S. Sims tonight declared in an address at the California Institute of Technology that attacking warships are the greatest threat to the coast.

Admiral Sims' address was given under the auspices of the Pasadena Lecture Course, and was heard by an audience of 500 persons. A reception for the admiral followed the address. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Robert A. Millikan.

"Nothing makes for peace so much as a strong defense," said Admiral Sims. "Any nation which neglects its defense is inviting disaster."

The speaker paid high tribute to the British fleet, declaring that it was the greatest naval force in the world. He also praised the United States fleet.

Del Howard's Crew Arrives for Initial Series

Usual Ceremonies to Precede
First Tilt of Season

Los Angeles is getting big leaguelike, in that it chops these ceremonies down to the bone. Good idea. The fans want baseball, and they can go right across the street for their circuses next summer. Also, the parade of our rural fair has been discarded. This will work a hardship on nobody except Jim Morely, who may be unable to find his way to the park with no parade to follow.

TOO MUCH MOISTURE

Manager Ivan Howard brought his ball team here yesterday morning and parked it at the Lankashim. It being too wet to practice, the athletes rehearsed "Just Before the Battle, Mother." De

Howard, general overseer of the invading force, came down a day earlier and parked himself with relatives in the suburbs.

The Angels reported to Manager Marty Krug at the clubhouse, but

It was decided that the degree of moisture was too great for outdoor activities. It was not desired to litter up the nicely manicured grass diamond with random footprints. So each club may be said to have partaken of its last year's indications are the teams will be able to play, but unsettled weather may have a tendency to cut down what promised to be a record-breaking attendance. However, baseball fans in the East have been known to face a near-busload in order to get their first helping of baseball, and it will take more than a somber sky to balk the local patrons.

STRONGER LINE-UP
While Oakland is temporarily handicapped in the pitching department. Howard will present a stronger line-up than last season. Walter Malls did not accompany the team, and when he does it will be minus his tonsils. Buzz Arietti

GIANTS MANAGER LAUDS WORK OF WILLIE KAMM

Congratulates Comiskey on Making
Ten Strike; Compares Ex-Seal
to Crack Jerry Denny

BY JOHN J. MCGRAW
Manager of the New York Giants, World's Baseball Champions
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

SAN ANTONIO, April 2.—Having seen Willie Kamm play in three games I am as strongly convinced that he is all that he has been cracked up to be by his Pacific Coast admirers as if I had witnessed his work throughout a season.

My old friend Charley Comiskey surely made a ten strike when he secured the youngster. The "Old Roman" $100,000 has been well spent. I wish I could grab another such prize for the same amount. It does not require a baseball expert to appreciate Kamm's ability as a third baseman. It is self-evident. The position was made for him and he was made for the position.

The instant he made his first play in a regular game in a White Sox uniform I realized his worth. This was when he made a pretty pickup of a punting, speedy runner from Sandcroft's bat and shipped the ball to the first baseman with a snap that carried it with perfect accuracy to the mark. It was the ease and grace with which he performed that appealed most to me. In his action Kamm reminded me of Jerry Denny, who was a great third baseman when I first broke into the big league.

THROW SPARKS
After that initial performance by Kamm, I saw him accept ten more chances during the game amounting to a double play. The ball was out of his hand with almost the same motion with which he dug it up and into Eddie Collins' grasp. There was not a wasted motion. There was perfect co-ordination of mind and body. When a player is gifted with that trait it results in an individuality of team-work that, although it sounds paradoxical, still illustrates perfectly the point. I am endeavoring to explain.

With a player like Collins, who is always on his base when needed, he and Kamm are bound to work together as a unit and tear off spectacular plays. I feel sure that Kamm will be invaluable to the White Sox team. He will make it. As a batter, I will require more.

My 20 Years in the Ring.

BY JACK BRITTON—
HERO OF TWO FIGHTS—

WHERE FISTS WERE A BUSINESS ASSET

After scouting around Chicago for several weeks and finding that a skinny awkward boy without any kind of experience was not regarded as a valuable addition to commercial houses where they paid the money I thought my services deserved, I got a job hustling papers for the Chicago Journal.

SURVIVAL OF THE Fittest
Down around the circulation room of the Journal I had my first experience in the use of fists, both with and without gloves. Getting first places in the line for papers was chiefly a matter of the eurythmics of the fist and the best fighters got out on the streets first with their papers.

It took some time before I was able to graduate from the rear ranks and the process of going up the line, step by step, was a discouraging and at times rather painful. The newbies used to hang out in a large room adjoining the circulation room while they were waiting the next edition. The period of waiting was usually marked by many fights and battles. Finally the boss, deciding perhaps that since it had to be a fighting hour on the daily schedule it would be better to make it more orderly, provided some boxing gloves.

Appearance of the gloves was taken as an indication that fighting was an officially approved occupation as a pastime and everyone went to it then. Crowds used to gather every afternoon around the room. When the gang gathered a bunch of gloves would be tossed in among them and the battles started. Out of that circulation room came some of the best fighters in the Middle West in later years.

TWO DOLLARS FOR FIGHT
Boxing sort of came naturally to me. I knew none of the fine points of the game but I was usually fast on my feet and before long I was looked upon as one of the best in the crowd. "Philon," now of the Cincinnati Times-Star, was sports editor of the Journal at that time and he was also acting as a matchmaker for several clubs. He used to pick most of my preliminary fights in the circulation room. He came to me one afternoon and asked me if I wanted to "go on" that night. The lure of a couple of dollars got me and I agreed. It was that night that I got my name, Britton.

Along in 1903 I really got my start in the ring. I never thought of boxing as a business but by going on in short preliminary bouts, it was possible to pick up from $1 to $10 once or twice a week and that was a lot of money for a youngster in those days. The first "clash" I got on was a preliminary to the Hyman-McGovern championship bout. In those days they didn't make out the preliminary cards. The matchmaker just told you to "be there" and when you arrived he would tell you who your opponent was.

Other bouts were offered me with more frequency then and I began to feel that I was pretty good. I wasn't heavy enough to win many knockouts but I was very fast on my feet that I had no trouble winning decisions. After the Gans-McGovern scandal had stripped public boxing, I went down to the Rosemont Club one night with a business got bad in Minneapolis and I went back to Chicago. I heard that Young Griffe was working out at O'Connell's gymnasium and I went down to see him. I boxed with him several times and he gave me some very valuable lessons in defensive work. He showed me how to "stand on a dime" with his hands down, and away and dodge around without being hit. Many of the tactics that I found so effective in later years were shown to me by Griffe.

I had been getting along without any professional instruction and I'm glad that I didn't have anyone to teach me because I was learning everything at first hand and every one of my lessons was practical.

The best thing I learned in those days was that it is a great mistake to do too much work in a gymnasium. Boxers in those days work out day after day in gymnasiums and burn themselves out. I seldom had any gymnasium work because I had to earn a living and practice at boxing when I got a chance.

I had burnt myself out in a gymnasium or on the road I would never have been able to stay in the game for twenty years—and I am not through yet. Something happened then that caused me to leave Chicago "by the back door" and that exit will be related in the next chapter.

With Pete Herman and Willie O'Brien matched for a four-round tilt in the main event at Hollywood American Legion stadium Friday night, one of the best cards for some time has been arranged. Not only is the main event a good one, but almost every bout scheduled is due to be a good fight from both sides.

The complete card will be: Pete Herman vs. Willie O'Brien at eight rounds; Eddie Walker vs. Walter Brown at six rounds; Dick Griffin vs. Bob Egan at six rounds; Eddie Brown vs. Jimmy Smith at six rounds; and Harry vs. Al Roberts at six rounds; Johnny Williams vs. Jimmy Smith at six rounds; and Mike Ross vs. Joe Fleming at six rounds.

Dr. P. B. Hawk Carries Off
the Big Honor

Members of "No-Nonsense" Full
Before His Racket

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN
With Charles Tennis Player,
1920-21

(REUTERS DISPATCH)

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—

Three years ago the National Lawn Tennis Association, in a spirit of sportsmanship, and thoughtful-ness, decided the time had come to recognize the efforts of the
"Has-Beens." In this great and historic move, the association decided to recognize the efforts of the "Has-Beens" and to allow them to compete for the title of champion. It was a move which was met with enthusiasm by the public and the press. It was a move which was met with enthusiasm by the public and the press. It was a move which was met with enthusiasm by the public and the press.

Every year since that time the
"Has-Beens" have fought out this title with skill for surprising many of the "No-Nonsense" who played in the event itself. And they have not yet to share the title of champion of "Has-Beens" in the event.

WON OVER ALL
Now it came to pass that in recent years a venerable "Has-Been" of some 47 or 48 years did decide to do "Has-Beens" and to play for the "Has-Beens" championship of the United States. And thus it becomes history that in 1921 and 1922 A. D.
Dr. P. B. Hawk of the Brooklyn Lawn Tennis Club, and Charles Tennis Player of the United States.

The late winter and early spring of a new year came on upon, and
Dr. Hawk, forgetting he was a
"Has-Been" and feeling the wandering strong within him, did not oppose his tennis racket and step out into the Southland, there to interrupt the ancient and honorable game of "Has-Beens" and to win the title of champion of the event.

BITTER BATTLE
In one of his early tournaments he came to pass that another of his venerable opponents, Charles Tennis Player, one G. Carlton Shaffer by name, and this invader did defeat him in a long and bitter battle. The town cried did report the defeat of the great median, and named him as "Has-Been"

TIMBER FAMINE IS THREATENED

Chief Forester Urges Steps to Renew Supply

Sees Total Extinction Within
Fifty Years

Lumber Being Cut Four Times Replacement Rate

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Under present conditions, the timber supply of this country will disappear in forty or fifty years, W. B. Greeley, Chief Forester of the Department of Agriculture, today told the special Senate Committee on Re-forestation. He said that reforestation depended on taxation and fire protection and gave it as his opinion that the cost of hauling lumber to the market was the cause of what he termed the present timber famine.

Timber is being cut eight and one-half times as fast as it is being replaced, Mr. Greeley said, while hardwood is being cut one and one-half times as fast. The present timber supply of the United States, he placed at 2,000,000,000,000 feet, with the annual cut at 60,000,000,000.

URGES PRIVATE GROWTH
"Given reasonable security from fire and adjustments of taxes, I am satisfied timber can be grown at a profit today by the private land owners in New England, the Middle Atlantic States, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois," Col. Greeley stated. "The trend of values will make production possible on the profit in the near future in the Lake States and in the South. Reforestation a tract of land under present conditions is like making the initial payment on a twenty or thirty-year life insurance policy."

Lumber is being cut at about four times the rate of replacement, he said. Seventy-five per cent of the present cut represents broadleaf upon the timber capital of the country.

Adequate fire protection of all privately-owned timber lands in the United States, Mr. Greeley estimated, would cost about 3 cents an acre annually.

PROTECTION ASKED
The policy of the reforestation committee, he said, should be based upon the premise that with public co-operation in the way of fire protection, taxation adjustment and education, the timber supply of the country could be grown largely by private enterprise. He recommended, however, that the government purchase some land adapted to second growth when owners cannot be interested in reforestation.

Of the 470,000,000 acres of timber lands in this country, he estimated, 145,000,000 are under fire protection by the Federal and State governments and 181,000,000 are without protection of any kind.

CHAPTER VII
She cried. Her sympathies, though crying and slower now to be aroused, still were such that she could weep for pity. It is a glimpse of her not to be seen again. There was she on her knees by Keggio, and with her arms about Keggio's waist, and with her head on Keggio's lap, crying for Keggio; and in the pause of Keggio's unfolding of her story entrancing her, as one that cried, "Oh, Keggio, don't mind now! Dear Keggio, poor Keggio, it's all right now."

And presently all the tale told: what Mr. Ponder's medicine was, and all the humiliation suffered in keeping in with "that vile man," and that vile man's betrayal of her to the Indians, and her dismissal; and all the earlier dreadfulness of her first steps down into her dreadful misery; and all the dreadful secret of all these years; and all the horrible humiliations secretly to get her poison; and all the horrible humiliations when her poison got. All the dark tale of that presently told, and her head bowed down to Keggio's, and Keggio's wet face against her face, and her face also wet; and just her murmurs, murmured at intervals, as though her heart that had discharged its grievous load ran slowly now, slowly to rise and then to well with, "God bless you, Keggio; oh, Keggio, God bless you, Keggio; and for a long time just passed thus, cheek to cheek, hand to hand, heart to heart, weakness bound about with strength, sorrow in pity's arms, travail in sanctuary. . . . It is desired that one should try to see that picture."

Its counterpart was not again in the life of Keggio, hardening. (Continued in Tomorrow's Times) (Copyright by A. S. M. Hutchinson.)

FORMER GOV. OOK DECLARES ISOLATION POLICY HURTS NORTH AND WEST

(BY A. S. M. HUTCHINSON) JACKSONVILLE (Fla.), April 2.

In his talk before the Chamber of Commerce and guests here today, former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio took occasion to lay the virtual "bankruptcy" of the farmers of the North, West and Middle West at the door of the Harding administration. The "policy of isolation," he declared, was the cause of the present American policy of isolation.

"Let me give a simple illustration of the agricultural havoc wrought by the present policy of isolation," he said.

"One corn is consumed in America, and it is not a factor in exportation. Pork and beef, particularly the former, are the products of corn. One-third of our pork and beef is exported. The present price of corn, therefore, is not affected by international conditions."

"Throughout the years there has been an unbroken relation as between the prices of corn and pork and beef. The present price of corn should mean to the farmer the market price of $10 to $12 a hundred for pork and beef. He is getting approximately $5 for both."

"The difference between what he gets and what he would procure if he were exporting these food staples is $4 a hundred. It constitutes the difference between profit and loss in his operation. The farmer is being ruined by economic conditions abroad, and they will not improve so long as we persist in isolation."

"Each day confirms the absurdity, if not the stupidity, of continuing performances at Washington."

DEATH AScribed TO ANEMIA CONTRACTED IN GERMANY AS WAR PRISONER

(BY CARL E. ANDERSON) HONOLULU, April 2.—Mrs. Helen Isenberg, widow of Otto Isenberg, whose estate is now before the courts in an effort to recover certain sums from the wartime custodian of alien property, died suddenly here today.

Mrs. Isenberg, who was 87 years of age, was a member of one of the most prominent and wealthy families in Hawaii and also was well known in California.

Mrs. Isenberg was an aunt of Princess Kaiulani, a widow of one of the last two princes of the royal line of old Hawaii. The funeral will be held from the Princess's residence tomorrow.

Physicians said that Mrs. Isenberg died of pernicious anemia contracted through malnutrition while she was held in Germany during the war as an enemy alien.

Mrs. Isenberg leaves seven children, including H. O. C. Isenberg, a partner in the Goethals Company of New York; Countess Agnes von Koenigsmarck of Germany; C. H. W. Isenberg, director of the Murray-Smith Company of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Countess Dorothy von Koenigsmarck of Pommern, Germany.

Mrs. Isenberg was visiting her children here at the outbreak of the war, and was not permitted to leave the country until 1919.

FIGHT EXTREME REVISAL OF TAX

Administration Opposed to Frear Program

Radicals Not to Be Given Chance at Tariff

Excess Profits Levy Also Will Be Resisted

BY GRANT WILCOX

(Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Administration Republicans in Congress are preparing to fight the radical tax revision program as outlined yesterday by Representative Frear, Republican, Wisconsin, a member of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, who has just returned from Florida, where he conferred with President Harding, declared today that he will oppose any general revision of the revenue or tariff laws at the next session.

Senator Watson also indicated that he is not disposed to favor reporting to the Senate any measure which could be used as a vehicle by the radicals for adding their amendments to the revenue law.

His statement gave the inference that he and other administration leaders might prefer not to attempt even amendments to administrative provisions of the revenue law as already planned by Representative Green, Republican, Iowa, who will be the new chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

ALL revenue legislation must originate in the House, and it is expected that Frear's program is carried out by a bill making a comprehensive revision of administrative provisions of the revenue law will be passed by the House and sent over to the Senate.

something of a drastic nature might be added on the floor.

Issues will be sharply drawn between the administration Republicans and the radical group on most of the Frear proposals. The administration will not consent to the restoration of the excess profits tax, with all its attendant complications, including the discriminatory features involved in the requirement for the determination of invested capital.

It is the view of the administration that the excess profits tax was an unjust burden upon business and that its repeal was one of the outstanding accomplishments of the present Republican regime.

The effort to restore the excess profits tax will be resisted on the ground that it is an unfair attack upon legitimate business.

So far as the Frear proposal for a tax on undistributed earnings of corporations is concerned, the administration will not consent to anything of this sort if made retroactive as urged by the Wisconsin representative. Some Treasury officials have been inclined to view a tax on undistributed earnings favorably and if the rate is not made too high such a tax might be given serious consideration by the administration.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon not only will oppose any increase in the tax on estates as urged by Representative Frear, but will go to the other extreme and suggest that the rates be reduced.

Amendments by Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, to the Revenue Act providing full publicity for tax records and proceedings met defeat on the floor of the Senate in 1921 and will be opposed again. Amendments of this nature, however, might stand an excellent chance of approval in the next Congress.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

CHARGED TO SOLDIER

(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBB.)

EL PASO, April 2.—Private John S. Anderson, 41 years of age, of Fort Bliss, shot to death Mrs. Christine Anderson, 34, wife of a master sergeant at the post, this afternoon and after killing the woman ran half a mile, then shot himself.

Anderson was arrested after he had his own life, according to officers at the post.

Officers said they were investigating two possible reasons for the double killing, one Private Anderson's mental state and the other a possible secret courtship.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

Associated Oil Distribution Expected Today

Globe Petroleum Manager Says Sales Report Untrue

Important California Issues to Be Offered Soon

What action will be taken regarding extra distributions at the annual meeting of the Associated Oil Company today in San Francisco is a topic of considerable importance to the financial community here, and discussion yesterday centered on the form the expected dividend would take.

Because of the comfortable state of the market, and the fact that the last seven years, and the uniform good earnings per share reported in the same period, the majority of conjectures agree on a cash distribution as the most likely action to be taken from the meeting.

The view reinforced by the vital need of Pacific Oil, the controlling factor in the affairs of the Associated Oil, for additional funds to supply deficiencies resulting from the poor earnings of 1927. Pacific has secured reverses in its drilling campaign, and also had to face the results of lowered prices for crude oil.

The stock market for some time has been starting pressure on the stock of the company, quotations ranging from a high in 1923 of 43 1/4 to under 41 yesterday.

Other predictions for these proceedings to be on the inside assert that any such action will be in the form of a large dividend.

They point to the relatively small authorized capitalization of $40,000,000, nearly all of which is outstanding, and to the greatly enlarged scope of operations conducted by the Associated Oil Company, which ought to be capitalized.

Associated participants in all phases of the oil industry, and have recently extended its activities to Alaska, where valuable acreage has been acquired.

If the Pacific Oil representative at the Associated meeting are determined on a policy of annexing a portion of the latter company's surplus, they should have little opposition. The latest reports indicate that $1.51 per cent of the total outstanding stock of the Associated Oil Company is owned by the parent company, an amount sufficient to dominate the meeting.

At the time of the segregation of the southern oil fields, Pacific Oil acquired $5.48 per cent of the newly organized Associated Oil Company, and the last few months has increased the amount through purchases in the open market.

Earnings of the Associated Oil company to be revealed at the meeting today are expected to be approximately $14 a share. This will compare with $10.25 for 1927, and the decrease is attributed to the lower prices for refined and crude oil, and the cut of 75 cents a barrel during the year on the crude oil.

For the six months ended June 30, 1927, the company reported earnings per share of $1.75, leaving a surplus after dividends of $1.11,715.

NOT FOR SALE

Properties of the Globe Petroleum Corporation are not for sale, declared W. W. Stabler, vice-president and general manager, yesterday in denying the report that the directors were contemplating a sale to an Eastern combination at 75 cents a share.

Several propositions have been submitted to the company, Mr. Stabler said, but there is no intention of accepting them.

Based on the increased state of confidence in the oil industry, and the sale of royalties, it is anticipated that the stock will be placed on a dividend basis soon. The next regular directors' meeting is April 28, at which time the dividend question will probably be discussed.

Globe Petroleum now has a daily production from its own wells of 10,000 barrels, and additional 25,000 from royalties. A 4,000-barrel well is expected in today at Huntington Beach. Five wells are being drilled by the company, which are expected to yield satisfactory results.

Globe Petroleum yesterday sold up to as high as 41 1/4 cents on the exchange and closed at 41.

MUNICIPAL OBLIGATIONS

Direct municipal obligations issued in California this year total $118,441,000, according to the report of R. H. Moulton of R. H. Moulton & Co., municipal specialists, to about normal.

Of this total something over half has consisted of two issues, one for $5,000,000, and the other for $5,000,000, in addition to three others, ranging in size from $10,000 to $100,000, aggregating $12,441,000, making a total of $12,441,000.

For the balance of the year there is a substantial supply of municipal issues in sight. The big proportion of the bonds that are contemplated will come from Southern California, particularly from Los Angeles, though there is a considerable amount in eight from San Francisco and surrounding territory as well.

The most important sales that are scheduled for the month of April are coming from Los Angeles in the way of $5,000,000 Los Angeles school 4 1/2 per cent bonds, and $5,000,000 Los Angeles city sewer and 4 1/2 per cent bonds, the former to be sold on the 14th inst. and the latter to be sold about the 20th.

These two sales are creating the greatest interest among the underwriting houses and the results will be very enlightening to the market for bonds of this character and for bonds of small municipalities as well.

Stock of the Bank of America has been listed on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and will be called April 1. The bank is capitalized at $1,000,000, par value $100, and has a surplus and contingent fund of $150,000. The stock is held by 451 stockholders.

The Bank of America is the seventh bank listed to be listed on the exchange, the eleventh having been reached recently through the listing of the Bank of Italy shares.

DAILY TRADE TALK

California Hangs Up New Record for Canned Goods; Business Outlook Optimistic

California eclipsed all records in production of canned goods in 1927. Output for the season was 15,560,000 cases, using two dozen two-and-one-half-pound cans as a basis of reckoning. The highest previous record was that of 1918, when 13,700,000 cases were produced.

The gain is due to greatly increased packs of pears, cling peaches, apricots, spinach and asparagus.

Dried-fruit production for 1927 also established a record at 500,000 tons. Nearly half, or 240,000 tons, was raisins. The prune pack was twice the size of the rest of the world.

Since 1919 there has been a steady falling off in the tonnage shipped out of California by rail.

With corresponding increase in water shipments. In pounds the total rail shipments in 1927 amounted to 1,510,484,550, compared with 1,316,584,557 in 1921, 1,475,421,193 in 1920 and 1,549,174,726 in 1919.

The 1927 shipments were the smallest in ten years. Comparison of 1927 with 1921 shows a falling off in the railway traffic in packed foods that may be regarded as a calamity. The 1921 pack of canned goods and dried fruits was lower than any year since 1916, with the exception of 1918.

The 1927 pack of canned goods and dried fruits was the greatest ever recorded. Yet the railways carried out of California 13 1/2 per cent less canned foods and 13 1/2 per cent less dried fruits in 1927 than in 1921.

The California packs are being cleaned up each year faster than the year previous, and most is being done by steamships plying between California ports and New Orleans, Charleston, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, but principally New Orleans and New York.

Among the subjects at a joint meeting of the Pacific Coast claim conference and representatives of the freight claim division of the American Railway Association are the claims of $1,650,000 filed by shipper of fruit in the San Joaquin Valley, representatives of the shippers, ask that the railroads take definite action toward meeting these claims.

Car delays, broken packages, failure to ice and other interruptions in rail traffic during the fruit-shipping season last year are the principal cause of claims.

Owing to the shortage of cars, the Lodi grape-growing district was a heavy loser last year. It was estimated that approximately 50,000 tons of grapes, mostly Tokays, were left to rot on the vines in this district because of the failure of the railroads to furnish cars.

Numerous complaints were made that hundreds of cars of grapes arrived in the eastern terminals in bad condition, due to alleged failure of the railroads to ice the grapes properly.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The first quarter of the year ended with all sales set and apparent smooth seas, with favorable after the war the banks reported today the downward reaction at the Federal reserve.

Neither influence is at present in the market, from which the inference is reasonable that business revival is still being financed by transfer of credits from speculative and investment markets to the purpose of trade.

A few speculators in the industrial shares had no effect on the general stock market; prices indicated a pretty much all day. Declines of 1 to 4 points occurred in a considerable number of stocks.

Both railroads and industrial, but most of them showed the low level. As is usual on such occasions, rumors regarding such matters as dividends were freely circulated.

In the case of the railway shares this very rumor talk was supplemented by a gloomy discussion of the February earnings which showed no better understanding of the situation.

Increases in operating expenses when a month of heavy snowstorms is compared with the same month in the winter of a year ago is one of the routine incidents of the business.

The movement in today's foreign exchange market was as confused as that of the week before last. Sterling hardly moved; the franc declined to the lowest rate since the war; the German mark meantime being bid up to the "one hundred" level, which stood during the greater part of March.

The Safest Investments—

SO ECONOMISTS say—are our own Government bonds and the direct obligations of municipalities where the law prescribes the debt limit.

Besides the factor of safety these bonds possess unusual price stability and marketability. The income is net—no deductions for the Federal Income Tax.

These securities are the only ones bought by ourselves and recommended to our clients.

Our advice to corporations, fiduciaries and individuals is a part of our service.

THE funds you wish to invest from one to six years may be placed securely and profitably in the MOWAWIC OIL COMPANY First Mortgage 7% Serial Gold Bonds.

We recommend these bonds especially to the investor whose principal is not large, and who therefore must obtain greatest possible income consistent with safety.

Aside from the comfortable safety margin provided by first mortgage on $1,400,000 property value securing this $200,000 offering, earnings of over five times interest requirements on the loan represent ample guaranty of payment at maturity.

These bonds are in $1000, $500 and $100 denominations, dated April 1, 1923, mature serially to 1928, and are offered at 100, to yield 7%.

Giant Gasser Blows in at Santa Fe Springs

DERRICK IS DESTROYED BY GASSER

Santa Fe Springs Well Blows in With Estimate of 10,000,000 Cubic Feet

With a roar which could be heard for many miles, the Union Bell No. 1, a well being drilled by the Santa Fe Springs Chamber of Commerce, yesterday blew in with an estimated 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas, and it was further stated that the hole would be ruined. The well was being cased in when it broke away.

Possibility of the monster gasser catching on fire was scouted last night, as rigid precaution had been taken against such a catastrophe. The well is located about one-half mile from Union Bell No. 1, the closest well. It was being drilled on the Bell lease.

For a time the Santa Fe Springs Chamber of Commerce building, which is only one-fourth of a mile from the gasser, was showered with sand and gravel, and the attention of the Santa Fe Springs oil section was riveted on the rampant gasser.

Although several men were working at the well when it broke from control, none was injured.

Scientist Is Recovering at Hospital

Dr. Albert R. Bolland, former president of the Radiological Society of North America, and nationally famous in radiology and X-ray research work, is reported recovering at the California Lutheran Hospital from the effects of an operation for appendicitis performed yesterday morning. He was taken ill early yesterday and rushed at once to the hospital.

Dr. Bolland is well-known in yachting circles. He is the retiring admiral of the Southern California Yacht Association and admiral of the newly formed Pacific Coast Yacht Association, composed of all yachting organizations on the West Coast.

HANDS HALT FREEDOM PLAN

Position of Dead Dancer's Body Causes Court to Refuse Dismissal of Capt. Jacobs

SAN DIEGO, April 2.—(Press.) Man's hands, crossed in death on her breast, again today barred the way to freedom, for the time being, at least, of Capt. Louis L. Jacobs, accused of her murder. The effort of the defense to obtain the captain's immediate freedom failed when, after hearing a long argument, Superior Judge S. M. Marsh ruled that a sufficient case had been made out to permit the prosecution to continue; and Dist. Atty. Kempler based the principal part of his argument on the ground that those crossed hands could not be reconciled with the theory of suicide.

The army surgeon's battery of attorneys contended in an all-day argument that the District Attorney's star witnesses had failed to prove that the butterfly girl's death was due to a crime. They declared that the testimony of the prosecution witnesses thus far had only established that Fritz had died by drowning, and that the testimony which might incriminate Capt. Jacobs was not admissible until the corpse delict had been established.

The prosecution forces admitted the corpse delict had not been established, but that it would be done following the presentation of testimony from other witnesses.

counsel, objected to the admission of any testimony referring to statements or admissions made by the defendant before evidence of a crime committed had been entered into the records. At that time the District Attorney told the court that by the testimony of Attorney Ferguson, he hoped to establish the corpus delicti and an adjournment was taken until this morning.

DR. REBA TESTIFIES
Dr. Reba was the first witness called today. His testimony was interrupted with repeated objections from the defense. The witness declared that Fritz had died as the result of drowning, but that, in his opinion, she could not have died of drowning in the surf, as he had found no sand in her lungs or her stomach. He admitted that his findings showed there had been no evidence of an operation having been performed upon Fritz.

The afternoon session opened with the opposing legal forces harried behind barstools of legal books. On the defense line were Attorneys Schenck, Wadham, Fitzgerald, Shapiro and Kittrell; on the prosecution side, Dist. Atty. Kempley, Dep. Dist. Atty. Ballist and Attorney Rosenblum. The jury was excused and the battle was on.

Attorney Schenck declared that a preponderance of evidence from the prosecution's own witnesses showed that Fritz had come to her death by drowning. He asked that the court prevent the case from reaching the jury, as there was no evidence of the corpus delicti being established.

"Counsel for the State cannot show motive, malice or intent to commit the offense with a crime until it is shown that a crime has been committed," he declared. "That has not been shown and I believe the State has no right to ask the jury to establish the corpus delicti."

center that is about two inches in diameter on each side to one-inch diameter in the center. This double cone is similar to the arrangement used nowadays to aid in locking the wheel tighter on the driving shaft.

The large gear has eight large teeth on the circumference and the teeth are less pronounced, due either to friction during use or to decomposition after it had been discarded.

The gravel pit, during the course of its excavation, has supplied quite a number of strangely shaped rocks that offer no clue as to their original use.

Mrs. Machado stated that during the first excavating in the gravel pit a prehistoric spear was uncovered.

HEROIC TREATMENT
When an Indian became ill, a fire was placed around the oven and the poor Indian placed inside with only his head protruding. When the fire had caused him to sweat profusely, he was removed from the oven and tossed into a creek, located a few yards from the oven.

If the Indian died from this strenuous treatment, all was well, for he was said to be a bad Indian and should have died. If he lived, he was a good Indian and the Great White Father would treat him well.

But in the meantime the strange cog wheels are causing no little comment among scientific men and it is expected that further excavations will be made in the hope of finding the balance of the ancient stone machinery.

ASSERTED NEPHEW OF ALGUNS ACCUSED
Ernest R. Salinas, who told the others he was the nephew of "Little Phil" Alguin, was arrested yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Hartley and Allen, and is booked on a charge of passing illegal money. Salinas, who was arrested at 1044 Mateo street, Alguin's former home, is said to have tendered at the Parson Brothers Auto Rental Service Station, Ninth and Main streets, a $1 bill which was said to have been raised to $10. He declared that he got the bill at a grocery store, but is being held for investigation by the Federal authorities.

NEGRO PLEADS GUILTY TO RECKLESS DRIVING
James Smith, negro, yesterday pleaded guilty in Police Judge Richardson's court to a charge of reckless driving, in connection with an accident Dec. 16, 1922. Smith's machine hit another car at the intersection of Sunset and Glendale boulevards, and Mrs. Laura Duncan suffered a fractured knee, while D. N. Williams got a broken rib. Smith will be sentenced tomorrow.

The importance of being pretty

Many a girl is brilliant and interesting without being popular simply because she seems to lack personal charm. A good complexion would make this same girl really pretty and as much admired as more beautiful girl friends.

For every woman passes as pretty if only her skin is fresh, smooth and young. It is within the power of every woman to possess this attraction—to make her complexion as beautiful as she longs for it to be.

The secret? Cleopatra knew and practiced it in the days of ancient Egypt. Today we use her favorite cosmetics and follow her method.

What your skin needs

If you know the delicate structure of the skin and the important work it has to do you would realize what conscientious care it needs.

The tiny pores and cells must be kept active, or dangerous sluggishness soon results. Accumulations of oil, perspiration combined with dirt, clog the skin and blackheads and blemishes result.

Powder, cold cream or rouge may help conceal this condition, but a thorough cleansing every day is the only cure. It will start your skin to work again and help it do its own beautifying. Smoothness and a charming natural color will soon reward you.

Not an extravagance

To use Palmolive is not an extravagance, as is that of many modern luxuries. The millions who are using it have helped us reduce the price because they keep Palmolive factories working day and night. This allows us to buy oils in vast volume—another economy.

Wherever you are or wherever you go you can buy Palmolive for 10c a cake. The attractive green cake, the natural color of the oils, is within the reach of everyone who appreciates that cleanliness is the greatest beautifier.

Use it for bathing

The luxury of a daily bath with Palmolive is not an extravagance at the 10-cent price. Why use two soaps when Palmolive costs no more!

Seventh Annual Baby Show in Full Swing

Going Through Tests

INFANTS VIE FOR HONORS

Five Hundred Registered and Quota of Fifty is Set for Examination

The seventh annual baby week opened yesterday at Plymouth Center, 450 West Twenty-first street, under the direction of Dr. Maude Wilde, president of the Mother's Educational Center.

Five hundred babies were registered last week at the national headquarters, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and the quota of fifty babies was set for examination yesterday.

The Montessori Infant, which is a small board with circles cut out, and each circle a trifle smaller than the other, is the method used to test the intelligence of the babies. Only babies from the age of 4 months to 12 years are required to take this test. The circles are removed from the board and the toys are required to put them back in their respective places.

The physical examination is based on the weight, height, and build of the baby. According to Dr. Wilde, the average score of babies is 17 and a baby scoring 25 is considered nearly perfect. Dr. Wilde said that as far as her judgment, which is based on her experience as director of seven baby shows could tell, the majority of American babies are pretty healthy.

Foot prints were taken of the babies and those with the scores of the babies are to be sent to the mothers. The baby, which passes a score of 20 or over will appear in motion pictures for educational purposes. The pictures will be shown at the end of the week to parents participating in the observance.

Baby week closes Saturday, which is the day set for all nations.

The officers who are directing the baby show are: Dr. Maude Wilde, president; Mrs. Howard A. Trotter, vice-president; Mrs. Clarence Daugherty, secretary; Miss Jennie Van Allen, treasurer; Mrs. Harold E. Thomas, auditor; Dr. E. A. Higgins, corresponding secretary; and Dr. George F. Clements, Mrs. George L. Eastman; Mrs. R. E. Chadwick, Mrs. W. A. Gelatine, Mrs. Elizabeth DeVerant, Dr. Anna Dewey Chaplin, Mrs. L. E. Whitworth, and Rev. Thomas C. Marshall, directors.

Club Women to be Mannequins
in Fashion Show

Mannequins of a dignity and distinction no mere professionals are likely to attain are to appear at the annual spring fashion show of the Catholic Women's Club at Ninth street and Menlo avenue tomorrow. The women of the club have volunteered to serve for a day as models to show off the most recent styles.

The show will be a strictly amateur affair, with full management in the hands of the club. The women in charge announce that they will show world's fashion creations in gowns, suits, wraps, blouses, sweaters, sports apparel, millinery, negligees and intimate apparel. The show is given for philanthropic purposes.

OAKS ASKS FOR ADEQUATE JAILChief Proposes Bond Issue for June BallotPresent Condition Is Called Disgrace to CityPrisoners Are in Jeopardy of Lives, He Asserts

Chief of Police Oaks yesterday asked the City Council to place a bond issue for a new City Jail on the ballot at the June 5 municipal election, declaring the present conditions in the jail are "disgraceful" and that humane judges and juries are refusing to sentence prisoners who deserve jail sentences but not the Chief's jail. "Such punishment as would be placed in a Los Angeles jail," he said, "is a disgrace to the City Council this morning."

On March 29, 1922, the Honorable City Council, City Hall, Los Angeles, Cal. (Ordinance): Today I am making an urgent plea to your honorable body to initiate such action as will result in a bond issue being placed on the June 5 ballot for the purpose of building, immediately, a new and sanitary City Jail, but which the surrounding area will not be so much as to torture the inmates and reflect infamy upon our city.

LIVES IN DANGER
The central City Jail was built 40 years ago, to meet the requirements of what would seem a village in comparison to the Greater City of Los Angeles. It has been investigated by various organizations and numerous bodies have called attention to the impossibility of maintaining proper health conditions there.

The fact is that the number of prisoners is so disproportionate to the facilities for their care that the jail is a place of horror. In the conditions I found at Folsom Prison, where, in space, there were never more than 300 or 400 prisoners, the prisoners were packed together without possibility of separation from the filthy or diseased from the healthy prisoners, and where even the beds and blankets were filthy and the general surroundings disgraceful.

JURIES AFFECTED

The knowledge of existing conditions, as exemplified in the forementioned situation of the Lincoln County Jail, causes humane magistrates and juries to avoid sentencing to jail certain offenders who deserve a jail sentence, but not such punishment as would be their lot if placed in a Los Angeles jail. A condition has a tendency to retard the ends of justice.

If we must build that the City of Los Angeles will approve a bond issue for a new city jail, I believe that there will be an ample saving in money if proper facilities are now provided. If we and adequate officers are provided in which the business of the Police Department may be facilitated and if the jail is so constructed as to make possible proper ventilation and sanitation.

PATCHING DEFENSE

We cannot continue to patch up the old City Jail building. When we do this we waste the money of the taxpayers for the repair of the like putting a brand new coat of paint on a pair of shoes which are so tattered as to be unable to hold the stitches. Improvements for handling city prisoners and a far-sighted regard for the financial welfare of the city are considerations which should be overlooked in this matter; the public welfare in preventing transmission of disease and the humane treatment of prisoners are considerations of humanity which should be considered by the City Council. We build a new City Jail and we build a new City Jail. Respectfully yours, L. D. Oaks, Chief of Police.

RIGHT TO DISPOSITION OF
DEAD MATE'S PROPERTY
UPHELD BY COURT

The right of a widow who has been remarried, to dispose, without restriction, of the estate of her deceased husband, was upheld by the State Supreme Court yesterday in a decision handed down yesterday.

The opinion confirms a landmark decision in the case of Mrs. Laura W. Rossner, against her estate, which was brought by Charles B. Rossner, her son, and George E. Colburn, her nephew. The case was argued by the late Mrs. Rossner, who was deceased, whose widow was named in the case. The case was argued by the late Mrs. Rossner, who was deceased, whose widow was named in the case.

The estate of the late Mrs. Rossner, who died in 1918, was valued at $20,000, was left to her son and nephew, during the life of the widow, then deceased. In the event of her death, it was provided that the estate was to be apportioned to the son and nephew, and the widow was to receive the income therefrom. The case was argued by the late Mrs. Rossner, who was deceased, whose widow was named in the case.

The court held that the widow, who was named in the case, was entitled to the income of the estate, and that the son and nephew were not entitled to the principal. The court's decision was a landmark one, as it upheld the widow's right to dispose of her husband's estate.

CINEMA BUG BITES HIM HARD

Forsakes Wealth for Screen Career

"Billy" Roelof
Heir to millionaire Philadelphia but manufacturer's fortune now in films in Hollywood

WHERE are all the millionaires going? For some unaccountable reason it used to be their custom, as soon as they had passed out of the chrysalis college stage, to spread their wings and flutter through Wall Street as bond salesmen. It seems all changed now. These young men have evidently learned of prettier flowers, a bit farther away from home. It is true, but prettier, nevertheless, than those blooming in lower Manhattan.

These newly discovered flowers grow in our own Hollywood. That they possess often-like qualities is a recognized fact, but it is not common knowledge that in the cup of each bud lurks a little creature whose sting is fatal. It is the cinema bug, the terror of all fond mothers.

Innocent daughters, bent on viewing the pretty flowers at close range, are often bitten by the naughty bug within. No, too, are the sons of wealthy families often attracted and as often infected with the insidious fluid of the roach-bug movie. The result is a disease of the resultant disease will be undervalued more fully when it is realized that such a disease, even in the form of stoppage of allowance, fail to effect a cure.

This was the case with "Billy" Roelof, known in the quiet city of Philadelphia as William Albert Roelof, who is now in Hollywood enjoying the vicissitudes of a motion-picture actor's life. Young Roelof is the son of the late John Roelof, millionaire Philadelphia hat manufacturer. A few years ago the heir to the Roelof fortune studied structural engineering at Pennsylvania University. During the war he was an observer and pilot with the northern bomb group of the United States naval aviation service in France.

This taste of the adventurous in life, Roelof said, made his structural engineering studies seem tame. He wanted excitement, thrills and adventure. Apparently Philadelphia did not have much to offer in this line, for Billy Roelof shipped on a Standard Oil tanker bound for Mexico.

He made his way to Colon, dined a few months in that and other cities in the Canal Zone, and finally joined a ship bound for Los Angeles. He had an idea of becoming a stunt flyer in the films. When he arrived in Hollywood he was told that most of the thrilling airplane scenes are filmed in miniature. The stunt flying idea was abandoned.

SEES GREAT FILM ACTIVITY

Hal Roach, After Eastern Survey, Predicts Unprecedented Era and Plans to Enlarge

After an exhaustive study of general conditions in the East, Hal Roach has written his general manager, Warren Doane, predicting an unprecedented era of activity in the West Coast Studios during the coming months.

Mr. Roach has been in New York for three weeks, looking into conditions that will reflect on the exhibition and production of motion pictures.

"There seems to be no questioning that we are in for one of the biggest years in our business," writes Mr. Roach. "Everything points that way. Theaters in the East are back to the days when overflowing crowds were the rule and not the exception. Good pictures seem to be answer to the situation. Broadway has seen some of the best pictures in film annals, and people are registering their approval of them at the box office."

"Throughout New England conditions are now at their best. Cotton mills and other industries are increasing their wages, which is having its influence on theater attendance."

"There seems to be an ever-increasing demand for comedies. I would be surprised if we have to increase our output in the very near future."

"Will Rogers will be with us as soon as the Folies close their New York run. I expect that will be some time the latter part of this month. Their run is unprecedented, which, in no small measure is due to the tremendous popularity of Rogers."

"We better get busy immediately on our new ranch, for I have made plans while here that will necessitate enlarging our facilities right away. I would not be surprised if we will have to add another dark stage for it is almost a certainty that we will need three stages this summer."

"New York is actually excited about the opening of Harold Lloyd's 'Safety Last' and will not be disappointed if the picture is a sensation."

Norma Talmadge, motion-picture star, has purchased a half interest in the young Nevada colt which won four consecutive races on Easter Sunday by winning the Futurity, the final 2-year-old stakes of the Tijuana racing season. It is reported that Miss Talmadge paid J. C. McKay, owner of the horse, a record figure for her share in the colt.

On Sunday, Norma and Constance Talmadge, Buster Keaton, and Joseph M. Schenck, went to Tijuana to see Buster's equine showcase perform. Shortly after the colt had won the race, Norma bought a half interest in the horse.

PLAYDOM

EXOTIC MYSTERY PLAY
WALKER WHITEHEAD OPENS
HOLocaust to HOKUM

By Edwin Schallert
To those who entertain an opinion that the stage of the present is limited at times to be dull and to "let it be," I recommend "The Hindu" with Mr. Walker Whitehead, at the Mason. The Hindu is, in the least, a masterpiece of the stage, and it is not brilliant in the impression that it makes on the audience in a hurry and an East Indian smoke.

Further than this, well, further than this, one must needs offer three resounding cheers that for once the great god Hoke is worshipped as he is due, and the heekah and serenades sung in nasal voices, not to speak of magic fire and tom-toms and an imitation of a snake that would make the sidewalk of a circus blush and how its head.

We have had shows and shows this season, but "The Hindu" is the top-notch. It is not to be found. Even the author thought it was a shame to take the money without having little word to say on the program. He declares, in part, that he does not want you to take the play with a somber seriousness, for it is merely an enthralling mystery of the Far East. A needless warning, cause anyone who might be so foolish as to take "The Hindu" seriously would be on the road to Patton or some other place, where gentle souls that have suddenly become violent are offered relief.

Apologies of the author to the contrary notwithstanding, a reviewer must perform try to do a little analyzing, difficult as this may be. Personally, I have no definite concept regarding "The Hindu," except that it is in certain respects a very pretentious attempt to fool the public, but the exotic means that are employed and the somewhat existing picture approach to a climate where it might otherwise be sheer bravado in playing.

You have a sense that is a smiff of the mysterious almost as soon as the curtain rises. It is about to take place there are talked of in the office of Scotland Yard detective sergeant. A veiled woman is sent forth to ferret out the instigators of the oriental revolt, and we are brought into that state of mind which is tantamount to a person's condition after the opening twenty minutes of "The Hat."

Act I immediately transports us to the Palace of Prince Tanar in Bannu, India. Offstage we hear the venerable hoot-hoot-hoots chasing its lullaby to the afternoon sun, and mayhap suggesting that dancing is going on in its most shivery state in the inner courtyard. The setting is liberally besprinkled with cabinets and classic looking panels and picturesque framework, while the conversation becomes cryptically illogical whenever anything exciting is about to happen.

Certainly Gordon Keen, who wrote "The Hindu," is right start toward something very exciting and thrilling. He leads you on with tricks and subterfuge and is dependable but not trustworthy and that readily intrigues your interest in a momentary way. The play is a mere farce, a farce of the most trivial kind, and there is the deuce to say if the natives find the play to be a hang your sympathy. You are allowed to suspect too many tricks and subterfuge and are not altogether certain that everybody has had a square deal. Most mystery plays let you in on the game to some extent, and most of them satisfy you that somebody was a thorough enough villain to be clapped in the iron of the law.

The heroine to whom your sympathy naturally goes is found to be a big deceiver who the whole thing is over as everybody else, that is if you are not wise ahead of time to the way that the game is being played. And if you are, then the meaning of the game is entirely lost.

So altogether you are on the horns of a rather big dilemma at the end and just as you are at the beginning and you must choose between the two. Varied on New Hillstreet Bill

The spirit of the Argentine prevails on the new bill at the Hillstreet Theater. The act is "A Night in Argentina," which Arturo de la Plaza presents. Spanish songs, Spanish dances and Spanish instrumental music are offered by the various members of the company, all in a very pleasing manner.

Jack Osterman gives a laugh or two with his "Fifteen Minutes of Something." The act goes over well, and the Hillstreet audience, and Jack just about hits it when he exclaims "Ah! I'm a success!"

Black magic, than which there is no more mysterious act being practiced, is what Lloyd Nevada and his company are holding in store for you. The appearance and disappearance of various objects, and Jack just about hits it when he exclaims "Ah! I'm a success!"

There is one juggling act making the rounds that every one enjoys. Edwin George is the fellow's name, and he is liked because he specializes in making you laugh and not in keeping a string of old balls or hats in motion. In fact, George fails to perform more tricks than he succeeds in finishing.

A lot of blackface comedians strung together for apparently no reason at all provides a good enough amusement for Farrell Taylor and company to come forth and do their bit. They call the act "The African Dilemma," and the only thing missing is a pair of ivory.

Lucas and Lucie round out the bill with some acrobatic work done about as fast as the slow-motion camera would show an ordinary act. The pair are graceful.

"Honor First" with John Gilbert as the star, is the photograph attraction. All the war stories were not used up after all. It seems for here is another. Gilbert does a nice bit of work as the two twin brothers, one the hero and the other the villain of the yarn. Rene Adore and Shannon Day are also in the picture.

Another chapter of "Around the World in Eighteen Days" is not as exciting as the previous offerings.

Naturally in the assemblage of a cast to play "Oliver Twist," the Jackie Coogan production now showing at the Alhambra, many quaint characters were engaged, and many players of the old school whose ability to portray quality with the distinction of a thorough technique, were enrolled by the producer.

Probably the most unusual character that came under the direction of Frank Lloyd was James H. Hazleton, who is seen in the role of the outwardly cynical and suspicious, but inwardly kindly old Grimsby.

Hazleton was in Ford's Theater, Washington, on the night of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. He was a program boy, and is believed by many to have been the only one in the audience half of the theater actually to see the shot fired from the weapon in the hands of Booth.

HOUDINI ESCAPES
NEW ORPHEUM BILL, IS AIR-STAR AFFAIR

By Grace Kingsley
If you feel that you have been cheated at the Orpheum lately, you can go this week and over so much more than get even. It's a big league bill, with a showman there, with not a single act from the kerens circuit.

Houdini, the wisecracker, the Canadian, dancer, and Lew Brice, acrobatic steeper, are at the dizzy heights on the bill, while "Yarmark," the Russian act, Gibson and Connell is a neat playlet, and Charles Wilson, the nut comedian, might easily headline a bill and still be the bill a top-notch act.

To say "The Canines" new days is like mentioning Whistler or Bernard Shaw or Barney Oldfield or Jack Dempsey or Billy Sunday or the Gold Dust Twins. Everybody knows they are the most brilliant Spanish dancers this country has ever entertained. They bring a superbly staged and costumed act this year, one colorful, novel, diversified, and supremely artistic in performance. Edmundo and Eduardo also bring along their two younger brothers, Angel and Jose, who are just as clever as they are themselves, and who are making their bow here for the first time.

The Canines are wisely keeping to their old Spanish dances, but modified to suit the times, and with a touch of the classic which sets off their exquisite technique. Miss Canino is the Pola Negri of the dancers, emotional, alluring, graceful, flexible, a willow.

"She seems just like the dancer that's been promised to us a long time, and now she's here," said the blonde snapper Olive, on the front row, in an awestruck stage whisper.

Houdini is letting the screen work for him a little, in showing some water escape stuff and also in showing the airplane accident which marred a picture in which he appeared, but which has been a wonderful thrill shown in connection with his act. He does his needle trick, his Chinese torture chamber escape, and his water escape. Every time Houdini shows up, indeed, we marvel more than we did the last time. He is going to give a public performance tomorrow, downtown. In fact, he says the only thing he cannot escape from are the public escape!

It's one of the best comic artists and dancers of the stage is Lew Brice, with a flame that flames the fastidious, and an action that hits the roughneck. He stops the show every session.

A charming little "almost straight" sketch is "One Night in Spring," in which William Gibson and Regina Connell appear. There are some clever lines, a good many laughs and almost a tear.

It takes a cleverer man to fail to do as many things as Charles Wilson fails in, and get away with them in the act. The failure of course are all made to order. His burlesque drama, ventriloquist stunt and his violin hokum all corner the laughs.

The take-off spot is filled by Mignonne Kohn and Company, the company appearing to be a comedy little girl dancer, while Miss Kohn is excellent both as a comedienne and dancer.

Snappy new songs, a charming clubbiness of manner and some scintillating posturing on the part of the girl combine to make Viola Russell and Edward Dunigan's act a peach.

"Yarmark," the Russian act, is the only holdover, and that's a three-ring circus that you can possibly see the whole of at one sitting, anyhow.

Madge Bellamy, Camera Girl.
Now the cameraman had better look out! Madge Bellamy, Thomas H. Ince star, has just decided to get into the game.

Miss Bellamy is to start on a cross-country trip today, crisscrossing the country. For all the while she has been imagining her busy with news and new dance steps, she has been spending many hours mastering the motion-picture camera.

The star is to visit thirty cities before she returns, including New York, Chicago and Boston. In course, and everywhere that Madge goes her camera is going to follow. She will photograph whatever she pleases, of course. And the fans had better watch their steps, because the camera has been spending many hours mastering the motion-picture camera.

As soon as Mrs. Radina completes her engagement at the Pacific here in "The Kidnapped Woman," she will leave for New York, where she will probably appear in a Morris Gest production, according to negotiations now being carried on.

Holbrook Hinn arrives today to commence rehearsals in a new play for the Maestri.
